

Author's Bio:

I have been an English language teacher and the principal for 25 years at DAV PUBLIC SCHOOLS in Dhanbad, Ranchi: Jharkhand zone (INDIA). After retirement, I've served in different capacities at many reputable institutions. I've faced all the whips, hurdles, and uphill climbs on the educator's journey. So, my humble attempt to help educators, globally.

Message:

As we step forward as educators, we must remember that our role is highly responsible. We are not just meant to impart knowledge, but we have to empower the future global generation. Each lesson taught, and connection forged will contribute to empowering a brighter tomorrow. Our influence should extend beyond the present moment. So, step forward with purpose and determination. As an educator, your journey is a canvas waiting to be painted with vibrant hues of inspiration, innovation, and influence. Your unwavering commitment and impact will resonate by shaping future world leaders. Welcome on board.
